Case of Andrew
 on the road
 in the car
 the child
 was not aware of the car
 when it
 was involved
 in an accident

Features in Common in All Cases: Impaired Prospective Memory When a Parent Loses Awareness of the Child in the Car

All cases involve a parent who is driving
 the car
 and who becomes distracted
 by a task
 that requires
 attention
 away from
 the car
 and the child
 inside
 it. The parent's
 attention
 is focused on the task
 and they do not notice
 the child
 when
 the car
 is involved
 in an accident.

Factors That Contribute to the Loss of Awareness of a Child in the Car

Factors include
 distraction
 by a task
 that requires
 away from
 the car
 it.
